The image shows a woman in a colorful sari pointing at a presentation slide titled "Requirement Elicitation". The slide contains the following text:

Requirement Elicitation

- Requirement elicitation is the most crucial activity in the software development life cycle.
- Requirements elicitation is a major commodity in the software design & development.
- Explicitly depicts that almost 70% of the flaws of the system are due to the inappropriate requirements and rest of 30% are due to the flaws in the design, which are not related to the requirements.
